Food safety matters is a resource for use in schools to support home economics teachers in their promotion of food safety. It comprises seven posters, 26 student booklets (20 pp each), a video and a teachers manual incorporating learning experiences, blackline masters for overhead transparencies and photocopyable student resource sheets. The resource promotes five simple food safety messages to prevent food poisoning. The resource is aimed at school students of home economics as a means of supporting food safety in the home. It is also appropriate for students of hospitality in schools and TAFE colleges.
